Balcony Systems – a 'Glass Act' at Grand Designs Live 2014

Balcony Systems will again be inspiring visitors to its stand B124 at Grand Designs Live 2014 with its amazing range of beautiful curved sliding patio doors, stylish glass and aluminium balustrades, plus unobtrusive Juliet balconies to suit all budgets.

Also on display will be the company's popular high-quality range of wood-free decking products that are designed to eliminate slippery surfaces, warping and the need for on-going maintenance. The show runs from May 3 to 11 at London's Excel.

As a complementary addition to Balcony's main product portfolio, the decking is suitable for various applications, such as balconies, terraces and patio areas next to curved patio doors. An added benefit is convenience for customers in ordering their balustrading, doors and decking for delivery from one convenient source.

Balcony Systems is exhibiting for the eighth year running and is the most prominent balustrading specialist at the show with an eye-catching selection of balustrading and curved sliding patio door solutions capable of transforming any property.

Innovative, cost-effective and simple-to-install, Balcony's products offer limitless design possibilities for all types of new build and refurbishment projects planned by self-builders, home improvers, architects and building professionals.

"We always attract a great response from enquirers and our experienced team is always happy to discuss quotations with those who are planning their own 'Grand Designs'," says Effi Wolff, Balcony Systems Managing Director. "We look forward to welcoming new and existing customers to our stand in May."

Balcony's unique balustrading system allows unobstructed views to the outside and more natural light inside. As the aluminium handrail provides all the required strength, in many cases, straight or curved balustrades require no vertical supports.

Combining practicality with panoramic views, Balcony's curved patio doors add the 'wow' factor to any property at surprisingly affordable prices. They feature two, three, four or six panels in various sliding or fixed combinations.

An optional BalcoNano® self-cleaning glass coating that greatly reduces cleaning maintenance is also available across the entire product range.
