Win £1,000 in Balcony Systems' Photo Competition

A top prize of £1,000 is on offer in the 2012 Balcony Systems' photo competition. Homeowners who have installed any of the company's products – Juliet or external glass balconies or curved sliding patio doors – are invited to submit their snaps to win this fabulous prize.

Pets and people are encouraged in the pictures to really bring the concept alive.

"We want to show just how happy our customers are living with their balcony, Juliet balcony or curved patio door," says Effi Wolff, Balcony Systems Managing Director. "This is certainly reflected in the many positive comments we receive from delighted purchasers and we think great photos are a wonderful way to showcase our products."

So what do you like most about your balcony? Whether it's for reading, relaxing, entertaining or simply enjoying the view, just e-mail four to eight high resolution photos of the installed product, with people and animals included if you wish, to sales@balconette.co.uk by November 30th 2012.

Entrants should include in the email their full name and address plus any interesting information they may have about the product or location. Full terms and conditions of the competition can be found at <http://www.balconette.co.uk/competition-terms.aspx>

Effi adds: "Although the British weather has presented considerable challenges this summer, we're hoping that customers who have ordered from us in the past may take advantage of any improvement in the late summer to take the shots that might just prove to be winners and secure a fabulous prize."

Balcony Systems is a specialist in sophisticated glass and aluminium balustrading solutions and stunning curved patio doors. Straight or curved external and Juliet balconies are supplied to exact client specifications to deliver the most cost-effective, stylish and durable balustrade solution for any project.
