

CARRON
P H O E N I X

Press Release
15th August 2011

New Dante Pro Tap from Carron Phoenix

One of the nine new tap additions to Carron Phoenix's tap offer, the Dante Pro in chrome is a slick new style that offers a handy spray option.

Dante Pro is inspired by the full-on professional style catering tap but in a design proportion that can suit a wider range of kitchen styles. Measuring 538mm high, Dante Pro sits approximately 200mm higher than a standard tap giving it stature and poise yet without dominating the sink space.

The slim base extends into a popular arc shape with an ornamental spiral detail. The spout pivots 180° allowing easy rinsing from the fixed head. Dante Pro operates on a minimum 0.5 bar pressure being suitable for both combination boiler and most gravity fed water systems.

Says Neil Clark, sales & marketing director: "Aesthetically spray taps by their nature have a bulkier head and this is not to everyone's taste plus they can dominate the sink area with their sheer size. Dante Pro offers a happy compromise with a neat design that offers a useful spray option for rinsing vegetables and dishes before loading in the dishwasher. It's also very reasonably priced at £359 compared to a full-on catering style tap."

For further information on Carron Phoenix products telephone 01324 638321 or visit <http://www.carron.com>

Ends

Contact:

Patricia Hancock at The Connection,
t: 01833 690700

e: patricia@the-connection.co.uk

for image enquiries: Linda Haigh e: linda@the-connection.co.uk

