Cytech Provides Intelligent Answer to Home Needs

Cytech Europe's Comfort Intelligent Home System combines an integrated Intruder Alarm with full home automation controlling lighting, heating, curtains, blinds and appliances, audio, video all working together in an intelligent way.

Comfort provides security, comfort, convenience and energy-saving. Control it from a hand-held keypad at home, or from a mobile, from a wall touchscreen or by computer and also automatically by set time programmes.

In fact, Comfort can control any device connected to the system from switching on the garden lights to heating up the bath water, creating lighting scenes for entertaining or "magic" a hidden TV from a faux bookcase. A Comfort-enabled home can be dialled from anywhere in the world to check on the lighting, heating, appliances or security and, if you are in front of a screen, let you look all around the house.

The door station calls the home phone when the bell is rung so the home-owner can talk to them or let them in. If no-one is home, Comfort can dial a mobile so you can talk to the visitor as if you were home to let them in, or leave a delivery.
