FH Brundle tube clamps used for versatile office furniture

When youth marketing agency Livity required versatile, flexible yet functional tables that fitted in with the old piano warehouse it operates from in south London, it's little wonder the team chose Tube Clamps from FH Brundle.

This dynamic organisation that exists to benefit the lives of young people opens the doors of its Brixton-based offices to young people and clients every day. The office space has to be versatile to the business's many needs; from client meetings, youth workshops, company AGMs and early morning yoga sessions!

The easy option would have been regular office furniture or slightly bland mass-furniture but this was quickly discounted as it didn't demonstrate the creativity of this organisation. Livity wanted to create an upcycled and industrial look within the space and so tube clamps seemed like the natural choice.

The clean galvanised finish of tube clamps combined with reclaimed scaffolding planks provided the industrial look and with the added practicality of wheels, they can easily adapt to the space as required.

Sam Conniff, Chairman, commented: "The Brundle products look great, feel quality and give us the look we were after. The Brundle service was great too."

The designer added: "Livity had a clear idea of the design they wanted. It needed to fit the aesthetic of their space and have versatility that required an array of materials. Brundle was a clear choice as it had everything I was looking for. Despite their size, they still give you the family owned business service."
