Fläkt Woods celebrates 60 years with BSRIA

Fläkt Woods joined in with BSRIA's 60 year anniversary celebrations at the House of Lords in June. Representatives from over 100 of BSRIA's members attended the event, which was hosted by Lord O'Neill of Clackmannan, a previous chairman of the BSRIA Briefing.

Lord O'Neill, together with Tom Smith, BSRIA's chairman, presented a commemorative plaque to 22 founding members of BSRIA that have retained their membership since then, including Fläkt Woods.

Ian Morehouse, Managing Director of Fläkt Woods UK, said: "Fläkt Woods joined BSRIA as a founding member 60 years ago, when we were known as Woods of Colchester. This celebration is testament to BSRIA's strong heritage and future ambitions, and Fläkt Woods is pleased to have been there at the start and is committed to being part of the future."

"BSRIA provides a fundamental service to the construction industry, helping organisations to improve building design and efficiency. The extensive product testing and market research services also support manufacturers, such as Fläkt Woods, in not only achieving legislative compliance and industry recognised certification, but also in driving forward technological advancement while influencing policy and standards across the industry."

"Crucially, BSRIA recognises the importance of sustainability, smart technology and product innovation across the construction industry – which is one of the key reasons we have been a supportive member for so many years."

"Fläkt Woods' products are energy efficient as standard, based on our 'e3' philosophy and values of being environmentally friendly, energy efficient, and providing application expertise.

"Fläkt Woods demonstrates this commitment to providing excellent indoor air quality, whilst still ensuring lower carbon output and reduced operating costs, through products such as our new JMv axial fan, which significantly reducing running costs and carbon dioxide emissions, and makes a positive contribution to decreasing the impact of climate change – a view that has always been greatly advocated by BSRIA."
