Kingkraft Makes Bathrooms Go With a Swing

The Mississippi Swing washbasin manufactured by Ropox and supplied in the UK by Kingkraft Ltd is a basin that swings to where it is needed the most, making it a boon for wheelchair users and carers.

Wheelchair users can move it away from them to create space for transfers, or bring it towards them for easier reach from their chair or toilet. Carers can move it away to clear space for helping around the toilet or shower area.

It is made from a polyurethane material that insulates, is soft to touch and cannot break if knocked. A raised rim makes the basin easy to manoeuvre from any angle and flexible plumbing is integrated within the arm.
