Marshalls CPM introduces the Perfect Seal

The Perfect Seal from Marshalls CPM is on its way. This product is the cost and time saving solution for the fitting of lateral (or branch) pipes into larger concrete pipes, manholes, junctions and catchpits, at the time of casting or retro-fitting into a cored hole.

The seal uses three component parts to adjust the internal size depending on the lateral pipe material being fitted. The user can simply remove components to increase the internal diameter of the seal. All components conform to the latest standards for below ground applications.

The universal nature of the Perfect Seal means that any DN150 lateral pipe with outside diameters between 158mm and 179mm can be fitted.

The Perfect Seal removes the need to purchase and store multiple seals and adaptors for different pipe materials, simplifies project planning and supports specification changes.

Benefits include:

- Single product, universal solution
- Removes the need for adaptors
- Can be installed in seconds
