Planet continues growth with three new office openings

Planet Partitioning, market leaders in the design, manufacture and installation of glazed office partitions and bespoke architectural glass solutions, has opened three new offices in London, Glasgow and Philadelphia. The result of both domestic and international growth, the new offices will provide sales and technical support to an expanding client and customer base.

Planet already provides the most comprehensive cover across the UK, and the decision to add two new regional offices will allow them to concentrate and reiterate a first-rate service in these areas.

An additional USA office will provide a further base for stock handling and administration resource, which will significantly benefit the nearby regions of New York, Washington and Boston.

Darran Hawkins, Managing Director of Planet, said: "This is an incredibly exciting time for our business and these openings represent the next step of our journey. We look forward to serving a range of new clients and customers, as well as our existing customers."

On the opening of the new USA office, he added: "This is a key move to fuel our expansion into the North American market. Having a local presence will allow us to enhance our relationships with a number of current and prospective clients across this market."

Planet has been designing, manufacturing and installing demountable partitioning, fire and acoustic partitioning and doors since 1978. Planet's Head Office, in Burgess Hill, West Sussex, also incorporates a manufacturing operation and glass processing unit, allowing Planet to deliver comprehensive solutions to satisfy customer requirements and a range of products boasting outstanding aesthetics and performance.
