Safety Letterbox installs intelligent parcel system at Barking Wharf Square

The visually stunning Barking Wharf Square, a built to rent development at Barking, East London created by APO features intelligent parcel system using Safety Letterbox Company's intelligent myRENZbox.

The project is located in an area of London where 'you can do almost anything you want! If you feel overwhelmed by routine, you can relax just walking alongside the river or in one the local parks. There is always something to see, and always something to learn.'

The client identified that myRENZbox intelligent parcel boxes helped futureproof the development for key stakeholders including the project management, residents and carriers delivering items to the project multiple times a day. One of the key benefits and attractions of myRENZbox is its ability to scale and adapt to meet changing future requirements, enabling it to expand in time to suit further growing needs.

APO created an attractive feature point of the intelligent parcel box area and promotes the facility under their 'perks and benefits', stating that you can 'collect and return your deliveries 24 hours a day using the digital parcel system in 'the local'. This is a central point within the building where residents can gather to socialise with others, have fun and of course collect and return parcels – an essential part of modern living!

The project also features multiple banks of classic Safety Letterbox Company mailboxes, conveniently situated in passageways providing residents with easy access to retrieve their mail deliveries.
