Weatherproofing service from Space Air

Space Air offers a bespoke in-house weatherproofing for selected Daikin equipment that would normally be positioned indoors, giving the option of saving vital internal space and possibly simplifying the installation process.

The weatherproofing service is particularly popular with VAM heat recovery ventilation units and controls and ensures that equipment is adequately protected if exposed to the elements.

It is just one of the bespoke services offered by the skilled technicians at Space Air, who can design and fabricate systems and accessories to provide a complete solution for a whole range of projects.
