Continued achievement by Space Air

Space Air is delighted to announce that after another successful audit, the company has been re-certified to the ISO 9001 Quality Management Systems Standard for 2015.

ISO 9001 is the ultimate global benchmark for quality management. It is designed to help sustain and improve the success of an organisation or business in their normal day-to-day activities.

Space Air's quality management procedures are audited annually. The company sets targets and objectives year on year and tries to introduce new guidelines, ideas and solutions wherever it can.

The benefits of registering with ISO 9001 include:

- Internationally recognised standard
- Better management control
- Sustaining success of an organisation
- Improvements in performance
- Conformance with legislative/regulatory requirements
- Improved organisation efficiency
- Control of quality, effectiveness and productivity
- Advantage against companies that do not adopt the standard
- Improved public perceptions of the business
- Demonstrates an innovative and forward-thinking approach to customers and prospective employees
- Increases a business's access to new customers and business partners.

Space Air, which is also an ISO 14001 registered firm, is Europe's largest independent Daikin distributor. Daikin Europe N.V. is the manufacturer, working with Space Air, one of only two factory authorised UK distributors, since 1980.
