New Commercial Director for Stanton Bonna

Stanton Bonna Concrete announces the appointment of Daniel Cross to the role of Commercial Director. At 29, Daniel is the youngest Director ever at the company – bringing the next generation of ideas to the board room.

Having graduated in 2012 with BA Hons in Business Management, Daniel started life at Stanton Bonna working in the Specialist Sales Team primarily responsible for the Rail side of the business. After cutting his teeth on large tenders with complex negotiations, Daniel then took a managerial role as Sales and Operations Manager of SBC Rail in October 2016.

In May 2018, Daniel expanded his role to include managing the Core Drainage part of the business in the position of Commercial Manager.

The invaluable knowledge and experience that Daniel has gained over the past 7 years across all commercial functions in the business, together with his balanced approach, positive character and forward-thinking attitude has led to a natural progression to Commercial Director.

Daniel says: "I feel very excited to be given this opportunity at Stanton Bonna at such an important time in its history. Being part of an innovative, agile company that has served the UK market for around 100 years with a great reputation for adapting to the needs of the customer, with challenging projects, is a great privilege. The opportunity for us to now leverage our brand in a rising market with the support of our parent company is extremely exciting and one that I am looking forward to."

Stanton Bonna is part of the Consolis Group, Europe's largest precast concrete producer, and is widely recognised as a leading UK manufacturer of precast concrete pipes and manholes which form part of a comprehensive range of drainage systems, pressure systems, railway products and specialist precast solutions.

The company manufactures for the water, highways, rail, industrial and commercial, housing, telecom and power sectors within the construction industry.
