Tensar Features in Rail Article

Soil reinforcement and ground stabilisation specialists Tensar featured in an informative article in the November issue of Railway Track & Structures publication.

The article, A grid for subgrade stability, looked at the benefits that geogrids can bring to North American railroads and forecasts the grids will soon become commonplace. John Bolton, director of marketing at Tensar International Corporation, was interviewed for the article, which can be viewed at <http://www.nxtbook.com/nxtbooks/sb/rts1111/index.php?pg=29#/30>
