Christina Adds New Dimension to Tubosider Customer Care

Tubosider UK plans to give even higher levels of service to each and every customer following the appointment of Christina Sculthorpe as Internal Project Manager.

This new role within the company will mean the nurturing of every sales order from start to finish, and include a follow-up to gather customer feedback on the "Tubosider Experience".

29-year-old Christina will initially be contacting any customers who currently have a live order with Tubosider, and will eventually introduce herself to the whole of the company's customer base.

"Christina's appointment is part of our ongoing aim to improve customer service in ways that help them most, making us more efficient and more cost effective," says Commercial Director Anne Duckworth.

"She will be maintaining contact with customers to establish their exact requirements and attend to any potential changes, not to mention dealing with any hiccups along the way to prevent any delays.

"We are hoping this role will take pressure off other departments during our busiest periods and help our customers see our commitment to offering value for money and a first class, all round service."
