Westbury windows and French doors chosen for cottage style new build

The developer of a cottage-style new home in rural Wiltshire specified Westbury windows & doors for the high quality house knowing that the firm's products combine classic design with high performance technology.

One of a few new build homes on this plot, Vine Cottage's design was largely dictated by the developer Templeton Walker's desire to build homes that would confirm to and complement other buildings in the area.

Installing a mixture of casement windows, French doors and entrance doors, Templeton Walker has created a home that has heritage appeal but is thoroughly tested to modern standards including PAS24 security testing.

In order to meet Part Q of the building regulations, any windows fitted in new builds (or new dwellings if the building use has changed to residential) must meet PAS24 standards.
