

Press Release
23rd January 2009

EnviroVent re-launches corporate website

You can experience innovation at your fingertips when you log on to the new EnviroVent corporate website.

Designed to be user-friendly, the site brings a new dimension to the world of ventilation and sustainability.

The website's clean cut image is complemented by an informative newsfeed, a smart interactive product guide and a trendy blog. Marketing Manager, Rebecca Marczak said: "The newly launched EnviroVent website is a key source of information for our customers, specifiers, residents and wholesalers to access up-to-date product information in addition to learning about important considerations and requirements when sourcing ventilation products. In line with EnviroVent's new corporate image, the website reflects style, innovation and quality."

Ends