Idealcombi is awarded supply contract for award winning Accordia Project

Idealcombi are proud to be the main supplier of windows to the 2008 Stirling Prize winning Accordia project.

This prestigious housing development is situated close to the centre of Cambridge City centre. We were able to give the look and feel requested by both Feilden Clegg Bradley Architects & Maccreanor Lavington Architects.

Idealcombi were involved from the start of the project and supplied the 1st phase in 2004 through to 2005. We are currently supplying the 2nd phase of the project this year. The windows consists mainly of sliding doors, fixed lights and side guided windows as well as shutters in Red Louro timber which were specially designed for this project.

Housing developments are rarely considered for the Stirling Prize which makes this entry even more remarkable. We have supplied over £1 million worth of windows and are delighted to be involved in such a unique and ground breaking project.
